Handedness

Background & Family I am not from Morensia. I was born in Sashtia, the gentle island far to the southeast of Morensia. But my family has followed the Morensian religion for generations. I served in our small Temple for several years, eventually becoming a priest, and then a theologian within the Temple. The call to Faenwitha drew me to Morensia. I've been here for a little over a year now. I still don't speak the Morensian language very well, and I miss many things about Sashtia: the sophisticated wine, the stable monarchy, the elegant language... The Morensians sometimes strike me as uncultured buffoons. But this island offers many opportunities, and the Order seems to be where I am destined to serve.

Current exhaustion:

Current AGL + Initiative:

My stance on the upcoming succession crisis: It saddens me to see my beloved Temples squabbling over politics. I wish that they could get over their political differences and work together to achieve greatness. I would like to see the Order work to bring peace and civilization to Morensia, if such a thing is even possible.

Great Work: I have not completed my Great Work yet. I don't actually feel very drawn to do so. It is more important to serve Sister Earth in whatever ways I can, and see what fate she has in store for me.
